

Escorts forms JV with Kubota Corp to make high-end tractor range

With an initial investment of Rs 300 crores, both the companies will establish new common manufacturing with initial capacity of 50,000 units.

New Delhi: Indian engineering firm Escorts has entered into a technology collaboration with Japanese tractor and heavy equipment maker Kubota Corp on Monday to jointly manufacture high-end, value-oriented utility tractor range to cater both domestic and export markets.

With an initial investment of Rs 300 crores, both the companies will establish new common manufacturing having an initial capacity of 50,000 units, Escorts said in a release.

Speaking on the partnership Nikil Nanda, Chairman and MD, Escorts

Under this 60:40 JV, Kubota will export Escorts tractors through Kubota Global Distribution network in the specific market.

E Meanwhile, the pair will continue to develop their distribution channel in India independently, Escorts informed. However, both the companies will continue to share their technology platforms for mutual growth along with some greenfield opportunities in future.

Under Kubota

and export markets."